Art Unit: 1743

1. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, "the liquid-column ends..." lacks antecedence and is therefore unclear. See also claim 20. In claim 4, "the buffer medium being adapted..." is unclear because the buffer medium is not a positively recited element of the invention. In claim 6, "the means for defining a liquid column" lacks antecedence—are the walls intended? In claim 13, are the liquid reservoirs the same or in addition to those of claim 1? In claim 16, "the fluid lines" lacks antecedence. In claim 19, "the first surface" and "the dosing head" lack antecedence, and the claim is therefore unclear because it is unclear to what these terms refer. Claim 20 is unclear as a whole because it is unclear what scope of claim is intended—the dosing head alone or the combination of dosing head and device? Note that conventionally, "comprising:" at the end of the preamble indicates that the body of the claim has begun. In claim 20, in the part beginning "said dosing head comprising", is "a plurality of nozzle orifices" the same or different form that recited previously? In claim 20, in the part beginning "said dosing head comprising", to what does "at least part of which" refer? Part of what? In claim 21, is "a nozzle orifice" the same or different form that previously recited?

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1743

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 3, 5-6, 8, 11, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Little (6024925).

Little teaches needles having orifices at the lower end, liquid columns in the middle and reservoirs at the top. A pressure chamber is formed between 52 and 54, and compressed gas is supplied via line 84 and valve 82 to deposit droplets. Vent 86 is also provided. With respect to claim 12, recesses at the periphery contain holders 56a,b.

4. Claims 1-2, 4-6, 8, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Goodman (5343909).

Goodman teaches tips having orifices at the lower end, liquid columns in the middle and reservoirs at the top. A pressure chamber 39 or 47 is formed, and diaphragm 17, tappet 13 and actuator 35 are used to dispense. Vent 37 is also provided.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The examiner notes that Tiffany 5508200 teaches a device similar to that of Little (Fig. 10).
